Janie Jones (film)

Janie Jones is a 1994 American comedy-drama film written and directed by Mark Klawitter and starring Bette Midler and Dan Aykroyd. The film follows around a newly divorced housewife who finds herself having a sexual affair with her ex-husband's brother, while her ex-husband is stuck in a coma due to a plane crash. Plot Daniel Jones (Dan Aykroyd) wakes up in a hospital unable to talk. When his friends visit him, they find out his wife, Janie (Bette Midler), has given birth to their son, Tim. Dan isn't sure if his wife Janie wants a divorce and that he shouldn't ask her to leave until he's able to speak with her. He convinces his mother Dorothy (Sarah Jessica Parker) to bring him a beer and his neighbor, Rose (Geena Davis) serves him a sandwich. Later, Rose brings the beer, but is unable to bring the sandwich. Later, Janie brings the beer and the sandwich but claims it was a gift for Rose. In flashbacks, Dan's wife Janie leaves him after she learns about their affair. Years later, Dan meets a man named Ben at a gym and the two hit it off. They head to a hotel where they continue talking and eventually end up in bed together. After sex, Dan is asked to leave the hotel. The other

By: Andy Pittman Posted: May 11, 2016 Technology and communications have been on the rise recently, and with that rise, technology is more important than ever in any office. On a personal level, we're constantly evolving. We're up-to-date with the latest technology, we have free time to spend trying out new things, and we have the ability to communicate that technology directly to our friends, family, and coworkers. Work is no different. The technology and communication needed to run an office is likewise ever-changing, and like it or not, we will be judged for it. Luckily, it's easy to make improvements in technology and communications that are not only cost-efficient, but also optimize the way you work. Below are five items you can add to your workplace and have on you or in a bag at all times to improve your productivity. Headphones – even if you're an audiophile, it makes no sense to not invest in a pair of noise-cancelling earbuds. Phone – this might seem like an obvious suggestion, but we make sure that we always have our phone, smartphone, or tablet with us, just in case there is a message or an update that needs to be communicated with someone on the outside world. Water Bottle – we all know that hydration is important for a full, focused workday, and when carrying around a water bottle is just not convenient, invest in a fancy water bottle. Ink Lotion – if you're one to spend a lot of time in front of the computer, investing in an ink wipe will reduce smearing and make the experience for you better.OK, you have a nice trip and see you next year. I'm moving back to the US in January and would love to meet up. Can anyone recommend a good tent/clothesline/water pump for the Rocky Mountain Parks? It seems like all the archery gear is the highest end but I was wondering if there is a good mid range option for a newbie? I have
